The name Caldwell is historic in America. Recent investigation reveal for it a remarkable record for patriotism and personal bravery during the War of the Revolution and in the trying pioneer times when the States were coming into shape on new soil. From Rhode Island to Florida and through to Texas and the Coast, this blood extends today, growing out of a parent stock that was staunch in the defense of Presbyterianism, friendly to education and influential in politics.

The earliest records of the Caldwells found in recent investigation relate to three brothers - John, Alexander and Oliver who were seamen on the Mediterranean in the latter part of the 14th century.

John, Alexander and Oliver Cauldwell commanded vessels under the brothers name Barbarosa who had complete control of the Mediterranean. All nations of the sea paid them tribute and counted their friendship. After about twenty years the influence of the Barbarosa Brothers was ended in the death of Barbarosa Horut who was defeated and slain in the year 1518. The Caldwell brothers returned to Toulon in France where they had been born and settled nearby at Mount Aria.

They earned the enmity of Francis I and were again forced to change their location as the Cauldwells were of adventurous spirits and were no doubt three gay musketeers in their day.

One dark night they came upon Francis I, their king, who occasionally liked a touch of adventure himself if one is to believe the various stories of their days. The three brothers, who well knew their King, recognized him, but being possessed with a wild spirit of adventure and satire of humor, pretending they did not know him, set upon the King, gave him a good drubbing and robbed him of his boots.

Francis I had known them well since the days of their prominence with the Barbarosa, recognized them, now pursued them and made France so uncongenial a clime for them that they sought pasture anew. That event could not have occurred later than 1547 for in that year Francis I, King of France, died.

Where the three brothers went no information, but later in the year 1603 appeared in Scotland where they purchased near Solway Firth the estate of a Bishop named Douglas with the consent of James I.

The purchase of this estate was allowed by James I on condition that the said brothers, John, Alexander and Oliver, late of Mount Aria, France, should have their estate known as Cauldwell, and when the King should require, they should each send a son with twenty men of sound limbs to aid in the wars of the King.

The name is said to have been spelled variously Colvelle, Cauldwell, Cowell and Caldwell, and means Cold Wells in reference to wells of cold water which was on the original estate in Scotland.

There is a cup preserved in the Castle of Caldwell, Ireland, as an heirloom which it is seen that the estate took its name from a watering place.

Davy Hann - Mrs Ralph St. Brown (Died)
Granville Co. N.C. - Heywood Co. N.C.

The cup represents a chieftain and twenty mounted men, all armed, and a man drawing water from a well with the words underneath "Alexander of Cauldwell"; also a fire burning on a hill over the words "Mount Aria" and a ship surrounded by high waves.

Motto: Nete Focere Experere - To strive to do to test.

The men of Cauldwell early entered the wars of Ireland. Joseph, John, Alexander, Daniel, David and Andrew of Cauldwell went with Oliver Cromwell, whose grandmother was Ann Cauldwell, to Ireland of which he was Lord Governor. After his promotion to Protectorate of England, they remained in Ireland in his interest.

The recent investigation proves that the Caldells of America whom common tradition points to a common origin and ancestry, comprise at least six distinct branches of the family, each starting from a separate immigration from Ireland to the evidence historically recorded are first that of Andrew Caldwell who immigrated to America 1718, settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, married Ann Stewart. The second immigration was that of John Caldwell, who with his family landed New Castle, Delaware, December 10, 1727. The third immigration was James Caldwell in 1769, finally settled in Salisbury Mills, Orange County, N. Y.

The fourth was James Caldwell who landed in Maryland 1770, married Elizabeth Alexander.

The fifth was Samuel Caldwell who came to America 1741, settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, married Elizabeth Buchanan, who died in Ireland prior to 1741.

The sixth was John Caldwell. Came to America 1737, settled Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, married in Ireland, Ann King.

CALDWELLS OF VIRGINIA

The sleepy old town of New Castle upon the Delaware was for many years the chief port of entry for the large Scotch Irish immigration that poured into the American Colonies in the 18th Century.

From it there went out for years to the frontier settlement of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the Carolinas a steady stream of thousands of Ulstermen choosing rather to face the perils of the wilderness in the new country than the oppressions of British tyranny in the old.

It was by this gate that the family whose history we are to follow entered America.

John Caldwell, son of Joseph and Jane (McGhie) Caldwell with his wife Margaret and five children, his brothers-in-law, James Moore, William Ritchie, John Dadgin and their families immigrated to America, landing at New Castle, Delaware December 10, 1727.

They first settled in the County of Lancaster, Pennsylvania and prior to 1734 moved to Virginia where he founded the Caldwell Settlement, then in Beunswick County where he received on February 10, 1748 1,085 acres of land on Cubs Creek. First Justice of Peace 1746-1748. Elder of Cubs Creek Presbyterian Church.

(Old Free State History of Lunenburg County Virginia by Landon C. Bell.)

John Caldwell is bound to be the central figure in any history that may be written of Cubs Creek Presbyterian Church, now in Charlotte County, about twenty miles from Hampden Sydney College, Virginia.

The Virginia Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities dedicated a monument of granite to the memory of the founders of the Cubs Creek Presbyterian Church. On the monument are two bronze tablets containing inscriptions with the history of Cub Creek Church and the Cub Creek settlement.

When John Caldwell of Scotch-Irish Presbyterian came to America and settled at Cub Creek, he set in motion far reaching influence that are still marching on and one of the earliest, if not the first of the Presbyterians to preach in Lunenburg County, was the Rev. William Robinson.
